Edward Ward Vanderbilt, who was declared incompetent by the Lunacy commission that heard his daughter's case, was seen in the Ciaredon Hotel, Brooklyn, this afternoon, but refused to discuss his wife's whereabouts. He said that he would fight it up to the highest courts. He intimated, however, that he will consult with his lawyers and decide whether or not it is advisable to summon Mrs. Vanderbilt back to New York.

The boat starter, the deckhands, Morgan, the assistant pilot, and the engineer and everybody else on board thought the captain and pilot, John Brannagan, was in the forward pilot house with his hands on the wheel, keeping a sharp lookout ahead. As a matter or fact, Brannagan was ashore in the omce of Fred Pollock, superintendent of the West Shore ferries. Even with Brannagan ashore there would have been no accident had Morgan gone forward to the pilot house. He would have found it empty and would have taken charge. But Morgan, boats, and in defiance of the United States regulations, which require that two men shall be in the pilot house of every ferryboat while it is in motion. not served to make the West Shore ferry officials obey the law. An Evening World reporter made the trib to Weehawken on the ferryboat Newburg. There was one man in the pilot house, when the United States regulations call for two. He returned on the ferryboat West Point. On this boat there was but one man in the pilot house, in defiance of the regulations.

theatre wraps and fancy waists are shown in the new shop, and the most expensive and exclusive models are displayed in the show cases. The entire lower floor is devoted to women's frills and furbelows, together with untrimmed and walking hats.

In a show case of its own is a superb evening wrap of deep yellow velvet. The prevailing Japanese kimono sleeve is shown in it, and the design is Remaud's own. A stunning frock of embroidered Japanese lace made over pale yellow satin is the obect of much admiration. Made in the Empire style, with a deep girdle of yellow satin, this dainty conceit, by means of a lace pumpe, does double service as both a low and high neck gown.

On the second floor all kinds and conditions—of headgear are shown in bewidering array. Musirooms promise to be the favorite this season, and Remand downs all the latest constitutions.

The West Shore Railroad management and the United States steamboat inspectors are busily engaged in fivestigating the wild trip the ferryboat Rochester made last night from Weshawken across the North River to the foot of West Thirty-sixth street, and the resulting collision in which a passenger was probably fatally insued.

Outside inquiry establishes that there was no one in the pilot-house of the Rochester while she made a run of about a mile at full speed and that no consideration in favor of influence with the press, to lower the teaching of the Church or its moral standard in order to suit a self-indulgent age is, to spell ruin and failure and shame for the most orthodox church in the world.

Lawyer for Miller, Whom She Sues, Wants Security for-Costs.

Horace E. Miller, who has been sued by Paula Klippenburg, the Austrian ctress, recently ordered deported, for $25,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage, appeared through his attorney, Edward R. Vollmer, before Justice Seabury in the Supreme Court today and asked that Miss Kilppenburg be compelled to deposit $250 to cover the costs of the suit should Miller be successful, or to give security for that amount, on the ground that she is a non-resident.

Watts & Merrill, attorneys for Miss Kilppenburg, entered a formal objection to the application, saying that should the Court so decide she should give the security required.
